Privacy Shield Principles

1. Notice: In the event that Circassia collects Personal Information from a Citizen, Circassia will furnish a notice to the Citizen that describes: (i) the types of Personal Information that it collects about such Citizens; (ii) the purposes for which it collects such information; (iii) the types of third parties to which it discloses such information, and the purposes for which it does so; and (iv) how to contact Circassia with any inquiries or complaints, including any relevant establishment in the EEA that can respond to such inquiries or complaints. Notice will be provided in clear and conspicuous language at the time of collection, or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter. In any event, notice will be provided before Circassia discloses the Personal Information or uses such information for a purpose other than that for which the Personal Information was originally collected or processed.

2. Choice: In the event that Personal Information is to be used for a new purpose that is materially different from the purpose(s) for which the Personal Information was originally collected or subsequently authorized, or transferred to a non-Agent third party, Citizens will be provided, where practical and appropriate, with an opportunity to decline to have their Personal Information so used or transferred. In the event that the Personal Information used for a purpose other than that for which it was originally collected or subsequently authorized or transferred to the control of a non-Agent third party is Sensitive Personal Information, the Citizen’s affirmative express consent will be obtained prior to the use or transfer of the Sensitive Personal Information or as otherwise permitted in accordance with the Privacy Shield Principles.

3. Accountability for Onward Transfer: Circassia will endeavor to only transfer Personal Information to an Agent where such Agent has given assurances that it provides at least the same level of privacy protection as is required by the Privacy Shield Principles and this Statement and will notify Circassia if it makes a determination it can no longer meet this obligation. Where Circassia has knowledge that an Agent is using or sharing Personal Information in a way that is contrary to the Privacy Shield Principles and/or this Statement, Circassia will take reasonable steps to prevent or stop such Processing. With respect to onward transfers to Agents, Privacy Shield requires that, to the extent it is responsible for the event, Circassia shall remain liable should its Agents Process Personal Information in a manner inconsistent with the Privacy Shield Principles.

4. Security: Circassia takes reasonable and appropriate administrative, technical and physical precautions designed to protect Personal Information from loss, misuse and unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration and destruction, regardless of whether such Personal Information is in electronic or tangible, hard copy form.

Data Integrity and Purpose Limitation: Circassia endeavors to limit the collection, usage, and retention of Personal Information to that which is relevant for the intended purposes of Processing, and takes reasonable steps designed to ensure that all Personal Information is reliable for its intended use, accurate, complete and current. Circassia depends on its Employees to keep Personal Information reliable, accurate, complete and current.

6. Access: Citizens may seek confirmation regarding whether Circassia is Processing Personal Information about them, request access to their Personal Information and ask that the Company correct, amend or delete that information, where it is inaccurate or has been processed in violation of the Privacy Shield Principles. Although Circassia makes good faith efforts to provide Citizens with access to their Personal Information, Circassia reserves the right to limit or deny such access where the burden or expense of providing access would be disproportionate to the risks to the Citizen's privacy, where the rights of Citizens other than the subject Citizen would be violated, where the information is commercially proprietary or where doing so is otherwise consistent with the Privacy Shield Principles. If Circassia determines that access should be restricted in any particular instance, we will provide you with an explanation of why that determination has been made and a contact point for any further inquiries.
